HAMILTON CENTERS BECOMES PROMISING FUTURES

(NOBLESVILLE, IN)...Hamilton Centers Youth Service Bureau, a Hamilton County non- profit organization headquartered in Noblesville, whose mission is to provide resources to develop healthy relationships and create positive changes for youth and families, is starting a new chapter in its long history of helping troubled youth in Hamilton County.

Beginning January 1st, 2010, Hamilton Centers Youth Services Bureau will change its name to Promising Futures. The agency is evolving in response to community needs to provide programs to meet the physical, social, emotional, educational and self-discovery needs of at-risk youth and their families in Hamilton and surrounding counties.

“The needs of our young people have changed over time and so will the scope and types of services offered by Promising Futures,” says Stephanie Lyons, Executive Director. “A new branding campaign is in the works to build recognition and support for this new effort to benefit at-risk youth and their families”.

“The name Promising Futures reflects our mission” states Mike Corbett, Board President. “and expresses the optimism and enthusiasm the board and staff bring to this organization. We are excited about both the name change and new branding strategy. The same people, services and expertise that have helped build strong family networks in our community will remain.” Current programs and services include:

- Pregnant and Parenting Teens Services
- Safe Place, Host Homes
- Anger Management
- Supervised Visitation and Exchange
- Counseling
- Teen Leaders in Action (Teen Advisory Board)
